UNM Facts

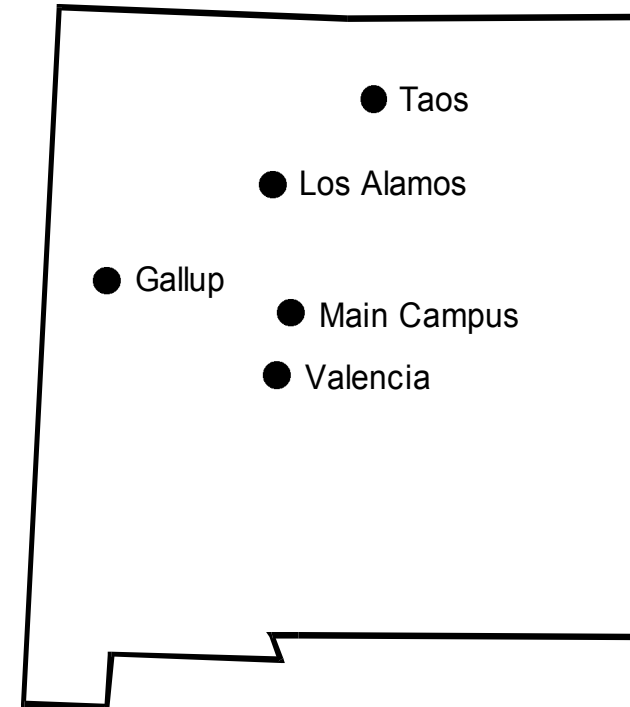

2002-2003

Introduction

In fall 2002, the campuses of the University of New Mexico served 31,795 students; employed 2,963 faculty, 7,460 staff, and 5,086 students (an additional 4,068 staff work at University Hospital); and had a total operating and capital budget of about $1.2 billion. In the previous academic year, UNM awarded 4,398 degrees and certificates.

This fact book presents data for all UNM campuses. UNM consists of a Main Campus located in Albuquerque, which includes the Health Sciences Center; four branch campuses, which have a two-year degree mission: UNM-Gallup, UNM-Los Alamos, UNM-Taos, and UNM-Valencia; and an Extended University which provides access to courses on-site as well as via technologies—including satellite broadcasts, videoconferencing, and on-line instruction—throughout the state. The Extended University also encompasses the Upper Division & Graduate Centers at Los Alamos and Santa Fe and upper division and graduate course delivery at Taos, Gallup, Kirtland Airforce Base, and Rio Rancho. The UNM Health Sciences Center and its programs—which include the School of Medicine, College of Nursing, and College of Pharmacy—are included in the UNM Fact Book, sometimes as part of the Main Campus and sometimes separately. Footnotes and labels should make it clear in each case what is included.

An additional unit of the University of New Mexico is the Division of Continuing Education and Community Services, which serves approximately 33,000 students annually in various non-credit or certificate courses, workshops, and training sessions. The Division serves another 10,600 students and clients in a variety of areas, including testing for placement and certification and evaluation for training and educational services. An additional 9,000 students earning academic credits were served during 2001-2002 through units assigned to Continuing Education, including Non-Degree Advisement, Independent Study, and Extension Services.

Degree Programs, Program Accreditation,
Degrees Awarded & Alumni

Degree Programs (Main Campus)

UNM's Main Campus offers over 200 degree programs. There are 92 baccalaureate, 67 masters, and 36 doctoral level degree programs. Many of the degree programs have additional concentrations and options; for example, the Bachelors in Business Administration degree has a number of concentrations. (See the UNM catalog for information on degree concentrations.) In addition, there is 1 certificate program; 3 graduate certificate programs; 1 associate degree program; 5 education specialist degrees (graduate programs beyond the masters level); and 3 first-professional degree programs in law, medicine, and pharmacy.

The University offers an Evening and Weekend Degree Program (EWDP) in which nearly 40 complete degree programs are available, and core courses are offered in a number of additional degree programs. About 1,000 classes are offered each semester after 4:00 p.m. or on weekends. Approximately 12,000 non-traditional, working students attend UNM at night each semester. The following list of degree programs are marked with an * if the entire program is available in the EWDP and with a + if several core courses in a program are offered through EWDP.

UNM-Los Alamos and UNM-Valencia

Several vocational/technical programs are offered which upon completion result in the Associate of Applied Science degree and which generally have an accompanying certificate. They are evaluated every five years by the NM State Dept. of Education, Vocational Education Division.

UNM-Taos

Several academic and technical programs leading to AA, AS, and AAS degrees are offered, as well as one-year certificates and customized training programs. These programs are not currently accredited by outside accrediting bodies.

CIRT

Computer and Information Resources and Technology

Computer and Information Resources and Technology (CIRT) is responsible for the University of New Mexico's enterprise computer systems used by all students, staff, and faculty. This includes the student computer labs (called Pods), and the hardware and software to:

- Support and manage the UNM network, including CPU and storage resources.
- Support and manage academic systems such as UNIX, WebCT, and other servers.
- Support administrative systems such as student admissions and registration, payroll, and the financial resources system.
- Provide UNM NetID authentication to access the above systems.

Mission

CIRT's mission is to provide leadership for the effective use of information technologies to achieve the University of New Mexico's vision and mission in education, research, and public service, and to provide support for the effective management and administration of those functions.

UNM Main Campus Libraries

UNM Main Campus libraries include the UNM General Library (UNMGL), the Health Sciences Library and Informatics Center (HSLIC), and the UNM Law Library (LL), representing three administratively distinct organizations. The UNM General Library encompasses Zimmerman Library (the University's main library), Centennial Science and Engineering Library, Parish Memorial Library, the Fine Arts Library, the Center for Regional Studies (CRS), and the Center for Southwest Research (CSWR). Other libraries (Other) include the following main campus libraries:

Bainbridge Bunting Memorial Slide Library, Multicultural Education Center(MEC)/Equity Library, Tireman Learning Materials Library, and the Native American Studies Center Library. UNMGL is comparable to a non-departmentalized college within the University and is administered by the Dean of Library Services who reports to the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs. HSLIC reports to the Vice President for Health Sciences. LL reports to the Dean of the School of Law.

The UNM main campus libraries represent the largest academic collections in the state. They provide a large body of information in print and electronic sources accessible through computer workstations and the internet. In addition to providing access to resources, the libraries provide instructional opportunities for faculty, students, and staff through formal classes and one-on-one instruction. In 2001, the main campus libraries ranked 58 out of 113 academic libraries in the Association of Research Libraries (ARL). UNM holds membership in the largest information scientific and technology consortium in America--the Alliance for Innovation in Science and Technology Information. The General Library hosts the online catalog for the state serving 25 academic and special library collections in New Mexico. The libraries' lending network includes the OCLC (41,000 libraries); the Greater Western Library Alliance, formerly Big 12+ Consortium (32 libraries); and the National Network of Libraries of Medicine (more than 5,000 libraries), a program of the National Library of Medicine; and the Amigos network (750 libraries).

² The Amigo Award is for non-residents, and also provides in-state instead of out-of-state tuition rates.

³ The drop in the number of Bridge to Success recipients in 2001-2002 was due to a one-time change in scholarship requirements for fall 2001.

⁴ The other Scholarship category includes athletic awards, departmental awards, and third-party awards from outside of UNM.
